Making a difference

We can talk to him (the PCS) when we need to even if it's something we don't think we can tell anybody, but we know we can always go to him

Pupil

She (the Specialist) has been a credit to the school and the local community. She is hardworking, extremely positive with the children and full of ideas to get the best from the children

Line Supervisor/Teacher

It has helped me loads and has changed me for the better as I have become more positive and optimistic. I am much happier because of someone I spoke to. It has helped me have a wider view, behave better and sit quiet!

Pupil

I think he (the PCS) is an important asset to the school. Knowing that there's always someone to turn to, is something that is reassuring. To be able to talk to someone is always good and helps get it off your mind

Pupil

At the beginning when my daughter first started at the school the PCS was able to come to the house and talk with my daughter when I was finding it hard to get her there. It made the situation much easier for my daughter and myself. With this help my daughter was back into school. On other occasions since then we have needed help and the PCS has been there for us. It is nice to know the kids have got somewhere and someone to go to when they need to talk

Parent

Before the Schools Outreach project began, pupils were running riot. We had a lot of very aggressive children. They mutilated themselves, they threw chairs and climbed out of windows, they had fights in class which drew blood. Having a resident pastoral care specialist has changed the school. There is a sense of calmness now. The children come to school feeling a greater sense of security.

Head Teacher

I have three children at the school and they have been to the PCS with their problems, or just to talk and she has been very supportive towards them and myself. We truly value her work and she has become a real friend to our family.

Parent

It has helped me a great deal to understand how to cope with problems and to think positively. It is very easy to talk to them and they help more people every day. I see things in a more positive way than I used to and can now cope much better with bad situations. I know I can trust them which is important.

Pupil

I can certainly think of a couple of pupils had the PCS not intervened I would have found it very difficult to keep them in school.

Head Teacher

The PCS is more than a friend, he's someone they can go and talk to. They know he cares about them a great deal, there's this mutual respect that goes on so he's valued highly.
